

Armies win a peace

Statesmen plan a peace

But

The concept of a life of peace as we see it is an enduring, lifelong pattern woven together from the following materials.

Inspiration — Leadership

The Other Man's View point

Competition — Friendly Rivalry

Fusing the Elements of Peace

Achievement — Man of Peace

FOREWORD

We are not the first, God grant that we may be the last generation, that must step into a world which greed, hate and fear have mutilated beyond recognition. Men have forgotten the meaning of such words as peace and justice; they prefer not to speak of charity and cooperation.

Yet in the throes of this war men look for peace. Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta, San Francisco, they all point to the eternally alive need that our natures have for peace. But even these conferences aimed at peace must fail if the individual man does not carry with him in his heart that fundamental understanding of and respect for his fellow man without which peace plans are scraps of paper, ready prey for the next whirlwind of war.

The common man and his uncommon cooperation with the people on his street, in his city, at his office, he is the one who lives the peace, who vitalizes those penstrokes on parchment. And for us, common men, like our fathers and mothers before us, four years here has meant nothing more than four years training for a life of peace. The men who train us have meant inspiration and leadership, our organizations have given us a broad understanding of the opinions and interests of others; our sports have meant teamwork and friendly rivalry.

From the fusion of these elements comes the man who understands and is prepared to live a life of peace. With the help of our God, the sweat of our brow and our four years training here we feel ready to transmit into daily living the formulas that will spell peace in our time.

TO THE FULFILLMENT OF THESE IDEALS AS WE HAVE LEARNED AND LIVED THEM THROUGH FOUR MEMORY-PACKED YEARS,
WE DEDICATE THIS

DEDICATION

The word discipline to us usually has the unpleasant sound associated with words like punishment and penalty; and the man who enforces it occupies the same position in our eyes as the policeman did when we we were four.

Yet to the man who disciplines us we have dedicated our yearbook, not in token of fear, but of respect for a man who knew his job and did it fairly, impartially and always firmly. From him we have learned the better qualities that discipline may engender: gentlemanliness, honesty and a real sense of fair play.

For these lessons and for the inspiration that the man himself gave us, for his cheerfulness, his interest in our activities, his concern with our problems, we say, "Thank You," and that he may remember the esteem in which we held him, we dedicate to him our nineteen hundred and forty-five Yearbook.

RECTOR'S MESSAGE

The close of your four years at Canissus is almost simultaneous with the end of bloods ed and cruelty all over the world. It will be for you then to rebuild the society that we were not wise enough to build well Yours is the opportunity and necessity to find successfully the formula that will enable all of us to live together as peaceful people.

The nustakes of our generation need not be your mistakes. The lessons that we learned at the bitter price of global war you may profit by. The blunders in understanding and cooperation that we made you can correct. The fadures that were ours you should never repeat.

Peace is built by the individual in his dealings with others. Here you have learned for four years, on the bail field, in the class room, in debate and club room the value of getting along with your fellows. Your most cherished memories will always be of the times you spent working or playing with your friends. Those memories are the seeds of peace in your own lives and in the life of the world. Keep, those memories. John to them the ideals you have learned here Add the spirit of prayer and hard, cooperative work and you have the beginnings of that formula for peace that we were too blind to see.

God bless you and give courage to your hearts for the task that hes ahead of you.

Sincerely in Christ

Teamwork Insures Victory

Common Interests Insure Mutual Understanding

Teamwork Insures Victory

These men have been trained to act as a team, and upon the successful teamwork of thousands of these groups depends the successful conduct of a war. They get to know each other as closely as one knows a brother and the result of the spirit of esmaraderic that spring up between them is the calm confidence that assures levelheadedness in combat.

Common Interests Insure Mutual Understanding

Life has always meant a constant hying with others. And successful living of nations or individuals rest almost solely on the ability to cooperate. In the debate hall, in clubs, in plays, in journalism we have fearned to appreciate the other man's viewpoint, to see the value of common interests, interchange of views. Upon this foundation of understanding we hope that peaceful living is built.

DUCES CLUB

Three times each week a group of tomorrow's men, tomorrow's leaders gather to pray for the blessings of peace, to pray to the Queen of Peace that they may, in the all too hazy future, carry on the work of peace which began in a tiny stable many centuries ago.

Theirs is an ever recurring prayer to God, storming His high heaven to ask divine remembrance of our brothers, our fathers, our friends fighting now on the world's battlefields.

No one can tabulate the effect of their prayer. Yet who would deny that they have won untold victories on the battlefields of heaven. Prayer for peace in a world at war! We dare not deny its necessity.

FRESHMAN SODALITY

Lost in the mazes of the Car suss On-Delaware, this year's freshmen were some what hew dered by things for the first few weeks. Ther one morning the bidletin board bore as gioread again; I reshman Sedanty, Today. Word passed around and that atternoon they stepped into Canis us High's honer society. As the days passed they learned the meaning of membership in the Sodahty, that it meant a devot or to the Mother of Cool and dedication to the service of others. It meant the acquiring of new ideals, higher anothers than they had ever known before

The year is war now but the freshmen have learned and kept their tradition well. Wriging Christnes parcels for the poer, visiting the sick, contributing to their is on draves, collecting religious articles for the boxs in service, praying day by day at mass and visit for the place the whole world wants. All these things have been their training and accomphishment. More's sodality is safe in their hands. They have learned the asson that prayer and service to others is essential to our American way of life.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Because of newly made provisions, the Student Council was able to start its netivities in mediately aport the reopering of school. Acting in an advisory capacity through represent it ves of all the students, the Council expressed the views of the students or certain matters to the facility. It also served as an intermediaty between facility and students, and through the Council many ideas and programs of the school were brought to the student body.

Supporting and mareasing interest in all school activities is another prince parapose of the Student Council. The play, feotical diame and premivers all sponsored by the Council, and rallies before football and hisketball games stirred up spirit in the student body. The Council itself organ zed and biologist about the Accelerated Semons' party and dance, a football basketball harquet, the father and son night and the Booster day at the end of the school year.

ARENA YEARBOOK

Changes were in the air this year. When the year started we had very definite ideas about the type of book we wanted. More pictures and less print was the idea in a nutshell. It entitled a new type of printing, lithography and a dummy copy that made up in smirt page design for what it lacked in printed columns.

The thome, carefully chosen to bit the mood of the times was worked out in a series of sax Tip In pages, stressing by the use of two contrasting pictures, the need for a life of peace. This germ idea, suggested in the pictures and their captions, is elaborated in the theme copy and total od upon in all the copy of the book. The pictures were taken with an eye to driving home this theme. It has meant work, long hours of it for all members of the staff but we feel that the book has maty and, above all, it is a complete break with ventbook traditions.

The final pidgment of its success or failure is yours. For the delay in production that war time necessity has entailed, we apologize, but we hope that your sent ment, when you receive the book will be," "This was worth waiting for."

ARENA QUARTERLY

Farly in the year the staff convened and deciled to east aside archaic libelet in blocks and straight faced copy favours in favor of modern design. The stiff colored covers of past leaves gave way to artist chi'shots for new Canisias on Delaware. And the form it took its one from the nation's leading weeklies.

Writers galore yied with each other to fill the pages with novel short stories, verse and essays reminiscent of Morley. The artists outdid themselves to keep up with the I terary output and each issue sparkled with a continually new and ever timely set of clever drawings.

The work has been exacting but the result has equaled our most hopeful dreams. Idealism and practical experience, these have we acquired. The ability to sketch our ideas on paper or embody them in a paragraph of type are all invaluable acquisitions and ever handy tools and in a world that will demand understanding of its problems and will chance for the expression and solution of these problems we may, perhaps, be able to play a worthwhile part. # CANISIUS HIGH WINS 19 OF 23 DEBATES

Victory has marked this year's Canisius High School debates in Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Fredonia, Jamestown, Syracuse and New York. Meeting 11 different schools, the Canisius debaters have won 19 of 23 contests.

Competing with Niagara Falls High School Tuesday at the Falls, the Canisius team won again in arguments on lowering the voting age to 18 years. They had a return engagement today in the Canisius Washington St. auditorium. Another frequently-debated subject is compulsory military training.

The Rev. Thomas A. Wassmer, S.J., is the Canulus moderator. Operating usually in teams of two, the debaters are: Richard C. Braun, Richard Murphy, Robert Fahey, Edward Batt, John D. Walsh and James Condon. Individually, they have accepted several speaking engagements.

ORCHESTRA

Almost any Friday afternoon you might find a group of students gathered at the entrance to the game room to hear the Canisian musicians pound out their numbers. Some approved and some did not. But slow, tedious rehearsal is the backbone of any organization and this is doubly true in music.

Mr Fred Ressel, the conductor, lost four of his star performers this year and replacements with their experience were difficult to find. Long hours of practice made up for their lack of experience and on their first appearance at the school play, the orchestra won a deserved applicate. They will play again at graduation and again the work they have put in will be clearly evident. The year will close with gratitude to Mr. Ressel, their conductor, and Father Byrne, their moderator, and above all with the invaluable realization that real proficiency in any walk of life comes only at the cost of real labor and consistent application.

Competition To Foster Cooperation

The field of sport is miles from the field of battle but only a short distance from the field of life. Here boys learn to work as a feam, to admire a hard fighting opponent. To beat a feam, to won a game, to clinch a title, as the screquire. the whole to work together as a rant, to cooperate. And this necessity of working with others to obtain a common goal is a medicit the heart of the fitting when we must, again and in a bigger sense, work together to insure the peace that is to come.

Bud, an exceptioned pavot man led the team in scoring and was selected on the All Catholic Team for the second season. Grand Dalton, playing his third season on the varsity, proved to be an able floor general. Jim Lanx, a forward, playing his first year on the varsity came through the season as the second highest scorer on the squad. Also playing forwards were Charle Diebold, hook shot artist, Bob Goetz who has a brilliant left hand, Leo Lynnett, probably one of the most aggressive players on the team, Bernie Reen who came through several times when the ging was fough and Gone Kancy, an excellent passer and playinaker. Replacing Bild Schaus at center were two dependables, Marty Breen and Bob Schaus. Worth was a stellar defensive player, Bob a scoring threat, both were noted for the niwerk of the boards. Operating from the other guard position were Das Felthousen and Andy Anderson, the two hest shots on the team and Joe, a tight defensive player. Rounding out the squad were two capable seniors. Cy. Dobrowolski, playing his second season, diminitive Jimin y Rank and a player with a great deal of promise, Frank Gaghone.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The varsity squad will not suffer from lack of material next year if the Jayvee record of ten wins and two losses is any indication of the calibre of the coming varsity basketeers. St. Joe's J.V., Nichols' J.V., St. Benedict's C.Y.O. and the South Buffalo A.C. can all testify to the ability of next year's stars.

MINIMS

Here is a squad averaging a little over five foot per man that made up in skill what it lacked in size. Their record of eight wins and one loss proves the old adage that, "good things come in small packages." A number of these small packages will be sporting varsity jerseys in years to come.

ACRIONS

Equaling their smaller teammates in ability and surpassing them in size, the Acrions stormed through a very successful season of nine wins and two losses. Practice and experience will give them the assurance needed for varsity ball. Coach Barnes need have no worries for the future of Canisius basketball.

HOCKEY

After an elsence of a year, Cams, is again had its Hockey Team in the Frontier Ameteur Hockey League. Under the abac coaching of Fathers Byri e and Reagen the squad started practice at Memor il Auditorius corly in December and opened up on the twentieth by dropping a close one to a strong Lorenzo team. Gaining strength with each successive game, the sextet rounded cut the season late in Pebruary with a record of 2 wins and 4 losses. These is rather good considering the forms provides mactive status and the stiff, experienced competition. Next year with few losses in the aneupanal a season of tough experience behind them the team should become a power in the league.

BASEBALL

With the advent of Spring the customary host of promising candidates reported to Coach Barnes for baseball practice. The varsity this year will be well fortified in every department. Behind the plate we find fiery Johnny Moskal, a member of the Eastern All-American team last year. On the mound are Tommy Flynn a fast righthander and Dick Dichold, a big southpaw, both of whom are capable of stopping even the biggest bats. Around the infield we see big Jerry State guarding the hot corner, Jimmy Laux at the shortstop post, dependable Pug Paganello at second and lanky Bob Schmitt holding down the initial sack. In the outfield along with Capt. Joe Mattimore and Ken Fellner are sophomores Leo Lynett and Dan Golombek, comprising a fast, hardhitting quartet of gardeners.

Flash: The above combination has just swept through an undefeated season and captured the Western New York Catholic High Championship.

Raw Material For War

Potential Forces for Peace

Raw Material For War

War is a playing field where existence depends or preparation and toughness. These young men will learn the stern lesson of never ending vigil mee or extraction and the necessities of self-preservation will soon wipe the carefree grins from their faces and take a great deal of the spring from their walk.

Potential Forces For Peace

Lafe can be just as tough to face as war. Its hying too depends on the learning of lessons. As they go through school here they must begin to find the principles and ideats that will shape their lives, they must discover that hying with others, and getting along with them is the striff that life is made up of. War may demand much but the learning to live life well and peacefully demands even more understanding and human sympathy. The lessons of life learned early and well can forever forestall the necessity for repairing mistakes by war.

Eager to Build a Peace

Prepared To Serve in War

Lorg to be the soft totagh training are behind these pilots as they step up to accept their wilds. Yet even as they receive them they realize they are raw recruits in the game of war. Hours of combat flying shand between them and experience. Diagram knowledge they have in plenty but actual battle hours are still ahead.

Eager To Build A Peace

The diplottes are presented and life's four year prepischool is terminated. Now the gradiante must step forth into a world whose last-ag peace will depend on his living of the after he has been laught is the best one. Peace for each of them means nothing else but their training transmuted into living.
